The 100k Opportunities Initiative launched in August 2015. Since then, 35+ major companies have joined one of the largest employer-led youth focused movements in the United States to create more pathways to economic opportunity for young Americans.

The goal of this initiative is to engage at least 100,000 Opportunity Youth – 16 to 24 year olds who face systematic barriers to jobs and education – by 2018 through apprenticeships, internships, and part-time and full-time jobs.

In collaboration with LA City and many private partners, CSS is proud to represent LA County in the effort of bringing this initiative to Los Angeles. On February 11, 2016, the 100k Opportunities Fair & Forum will take place at the LA Convention Center. In attendance will be many LA County departments, LA City, the Mayor of Los Angeles, the LA County Board of Supervisors, the artist and actor Common, and many company CEOs.

At this event, youth will not only hear from the aforementioned attendees, but will have the opportunity to participate in career workshops, college counseling, skill development, resume building, document procurement, financial literacy resources, voter registration, community service opportunities, and much more. Registration is now open and we encourage you to register right away: <http://www.100kopportunities.org/LA/>

We look forward to seeing you on February 11th.
